

Our home's covenant with God

This home makes a covenant before God, and we commit ourselves to...

To assume full responsibility for the life and sanctity of each of its members.

To love, protect, serve and learn the Word of God as our spiritual guide.

To be faithful to each other, to love each other, to honor each other and to be willing to give our lives for each other, as Jesus Christ did for us.

To love our children and teach them to love God with all their heart, all their mind and all their strength.

To educate them to respect authorities and live responsibly.

To confront evil, fight for justice and love mercy.

To pray for others and for ourselves, with love, mercy and trust, placing our lives in God's hands.

To turn these prayers into kindness, respect and compassion for others.

To work diligently to provide for our own needs and, according to our possibilities, those of others, practicing the works of mercy.

To forgive those who have offended us, and to reconcile with those whom we have defrauded.

To learn from our mistakes, repent of our sins, confess them and walk with integrity, accountable before God.

To honor God, do His will, obey His Word and be faithful to the Church.

To strive courageously, with the strength of the Holy Spirit, to fulfill this covenant, so that all may be for the greater glory of God.

"But the love of Yahweh endures for ever with all those who obey him; his righteousness is passed from son to son, for those who keep his covenant and remember to do his commandments to children, to those who keep his covenant and remember to do his commandments."

(Ps 103: 17-18)
